WILL TAKE LEADING PART IN TUBERCULOSIS CONGRESS

TO AVOID CRITICISM

Efforts to Keep the Tuberculosis Congress International.

SPECIAL CARE TO BE TAKEN

Proposed to Give Visitors Preference at the Coming Meeting.

DR. FULTON'S ANNOUNCEMENT

Declares that the Program is Strongly Representative of Participating Nations.

Although it is expected that there will be at least ten thousand persons in attendance upon the sessions of the international congress on tuberculosis which convenes here next week, the majority of whom will be from this country, every effort will be made to preserve the international character of the convention. At past congresses the criticism has been made that the delegates from the country in which the congress was held were given preference over the visiting delegates when it came to a question of speaking. Particular pains will be taken to prevent any such criticism of the coming congress. Dr. John S. Fulton, secretary general of the congress, had this to say today relative to the matter:

Dr. Fulton's Announcement.
"It is a common criticism of international congresses that when in actual operation they lose their international character by the force of numbers supplied by the country in which the congress happens to meet. At an international congress in France or Germany strangers having an urgent but futile desire to speak are apt to complain that they were crowded out by Frenchmen or by Germans."

"Possibly some such criticism will be heard at or after the American international congress on tuberculosis, but precautions are taken to give the visitors preference at the Washington meeting. The program is strongly representative of the participating nations."

"There are speakers from more than twenty countries, and there will be four hundred or five hundred congressists speaking other languages than English. It is a very good rule that the visitors from other countries are likely to bring more important views than an equal number of congressists living in the United States. The United States will furnish a great majority of the congressists, and perhaps it will be difficult to maintain the modest bearing of pupils in the great school, leaving the teaching functions as much as possible to those who are bringing us the experience and wisdom of other lands. This is the proper relation of the visited nation toward the visiting nation, but it is difficult to maintain. The presidents of the sections, all of them Americans, will bear this constantly in mind and will endeavor to preserve the international character of the congress."

SEVEN NO-MUZZLE CASES

WILLIAM CRAWFORD'S DOG COST HIM $5 FINE.

Three Others Forfeit Collateral—Remaining Cases Dismissed, a Nolle Pross Entered.

Seven cases of persons charged with violating the dog muzzling regulations made their appearance in the Police Court this morning. One of the accused was adjudged guilty, three forfeited $5 collateral each and the remaining cases were either dismissed or a nolle pross. was entered.

Six of the seven cases came from the southeastern section of the city, showing a continued activity on the part of Capt. Matthews and his men of the fifth precinct in enforcing the muzzling order.

The first case was that of William S. Crawford, specifically accused of owning a dog running at large on 24th street northeast without wearing a properly secured muzzle.

The testimony indicated that the dog in question was permitted to run at its own sweet will in the vicinity of Crawford's home, and apparently no attempt had been made to equip him in compliance with the regulations. A fine of $5 was imposed.

Failed to Appear.
Thomas Fineran, William E. Mason and William Prather, each accused of owning unmuzzled dogs in the southeastern part of the city and arrested as the result of complaints filed by the authorities of the fifth precinct, failed to appear for trial and their collateral was forfeited. One other case was dismissed because of the fact that a prima facie case had not been made out by the prosecution.

DR. LAWRENCE F. FLICK

Dr. Rogers Complains.
Out of the west there comes a cry from the Kansas State Agricultural College. Dr. Burton Rogers, representing that institution at the congress, who will read a paper of great interest to men connected with animal industry, says this is the first and last world's tuberculosis congress that will be held in America.

He makes the unofficial statement that, although it has the largest American membership of any world's congress, the membership from the United States is deplorably less than the French and British representations at the international meetings held in France and Great Britain in 1901 and 1905.

Dr. Rogers says that it will be a reproach to our 70,000,000 people, 100,000 of whom "we let die" every year of a disease which he calls preventable, if there should go down to future generations a record of an inadequate American representation at this 1908 congress.

Dr. Rogers says: "We ought to go patriotically to war with educational weapons against this enemy, and there is an opportunity for the newspapers of the country to stimulate every citizen to put shoulders to the wheel of American progress and to bring to the attention of the world that Americans live up to their reputation to do things."

Big Men From Europe.
It is an indisputable fact that Europe is sending the very best of its scientists to this congress. Just what the figures are cannot be told until the workers in the Colorado building have a chance to sum up the various enrollments.

The Entertainment Fund.
Today's subscriptions to the local entertainment fund, received by Charles J. Bell, treasurer, bring the amount up to $2,426, and are as follows: James F. Hood, $5; Harris & Shafer Co., $10; Lez & Ossau, $10; John B. Slemann, Jr., $5; A. Sahn, $10; W. V. Cox, $10; Aldrich C. Wiley, $10; William E. Jones, $20; Dr. Charles Read Collins, $10; Albert B. Brown, $10; Dr. C. R. Holmes, $20; Dr. and Mrs. M. C. Smith, $20; Dr. W. R. Bushby, $10; E. H. Snyder & Co., $10; Albert Carry, $25; S. Kann, Sons & Co., $25; B. R. S. Sons, $25; George B. and Mrs. E. A. Wimsatt, $25; Dr. J. C. Boyd, $20; Charles A. Baker, $5; Dr. A. C. Yarrow, $10; Dr. William C. Gwynn, $10.
